A Letter from the Director

Dear Sprouts Families,

I am so excited to welcome you to our 2025–2026 school year! This year feels especially meaningful, as it is the first school year in which I hold 100% ownership of Sprouts. I could not be more proud of the positive changes and rebranding efforts already underway.

Over the past several months, I've spent countless hours reflecting on my mission, vision, and values for Sprouts. Every detail—from the classroom environment to the way we communicate—matters deeply to me. My long-term vision is ambitious yet heartfelt:

“To lead a movement in early childhood education by building high-quality, replicable centers that prepare children to succeed, support working families, and inspire the industry to see childcare as both an economic driver and educational powerhouse.”

To support this vision, our new mission is clear:

“To provide a safe, nurturing, and enriching learning environment for children from infancy through age five, empowering families by delivering high-quality, developmentally appropriate care and education through skilled and passionate educators.”

In the near future, I hope you'll notice a difference in our communication, service, and leadership. This is just the beginning of the growth ahead, and I value your feedback as part of this process. Please feel free to stop in, call, or email me anytime with suggestions. Together, we can make Sprouts the very best it can be.

Thank you for your trust and encouragement—it means the world.

Warmly,
Paige
Director, Sprouts

Parent Tip of the Month

As fall settles in and the mornings turn crisp, it's the perfect time to encourage independence through dressing skills.

Toddlers & 2's:

Practice putting on socks or slipping into shoes.

3's & 4's:

Work on putting on coats and learning how to zip.

It can be tough to watch your child struggle when you're in a rush, but building in a few extra minutes for these moments helps develop confidence and resilience. A little patience now pays off in big ways later!

We're Hiring

Our team has been growing steadily, and with increased enrollment, we're looking to add another amazing teacher to our Sprouts family!

Do you know someone who is passionate about early childhood education and would thrive in our culture of care, growth, and excellence?

Please encourage them to apply at www.SproutsELA.com.
